SPREAD OF ANARCHY

ITS DISCIPLES HAVE A FOOTHOLD IN EVERY CIVILIZED LAND.

Thirty Thousand Persons and a Hundred and Fifty Newspapers Devoted to Its Propagation—Headquarters of the Cult of Destruction In Various Cities of the World.

Let us talk together for a little while about the red terror that is called anarchy.

Are you aware that the doctrines of the anarchists are spreading, that they have obtained a foothold in every civilized country; that there is not a great capital or metropolis in Europe or the United States without periodicals or newspapers that are disseminating the idea that it is right for those who go hungry and are clad in tatters to take vengeance upon those who are fed daily and are well clothed? Do you say that it is only the ignorant, and the idle, and the vicious who are anarchists? Then you are wrong, for among those who believe and propagate the cult of destruction there are many of gentle breeding, of elaborate mental training and unimpeachable private life. But suppose [illegible] belong to that under world where vice and poverty and misery are paramount, then the situation is just so much graver, for the anarchist whose mind because he is suffering want to cease to hold his own life so lightly that he would not hesitate to jeopardize it if he thought he might thereby accelerate the passing of property and of organized society.

IN "[illegible]," NEW YORK.

It is not necessary to pass judgment here upon the men and women who call themselves anarchists nor possible to enter into details as to the history of the movement in which they are engaged. So far as opinions are concerned, any one who is able to read of the deeds of the anarchists is also capable of formulating his own views concerning motives. As to a history of the anarchists and anarchy, if I had all the space in this newspaper at my disposition instead of a column or two, I could not more than skim the surface.

The difference between the anarchist, who wishes to do away with all law, and the socialist, who wishes for a great deal more law than the world now enjoys, should never be lost sight of. It is true that the methods of some socialists and of some anarchists are exactly similar—that is, in order to hasten the downfall of the present regime, which both socialists and anarchists would be glad to do away with, both on occasion make use of the deadly bomb.

It was undoubtedly the nihilists of Russia who were the first violent anarchists. They introduced their doctrines among the socialists more than 20 years ago and held their first reunion in 1871 in Switzerland. Though the socialists have done all they could ever since to keep the anarchists out of the socialistic camp and to make the difference between the two cults perfectly clear to the lay mind, they have not succeeded overwell.

The followers of Fourier, among whom were Horace Greeley, George Ripley, George William Curtis and Charles A. Dana, were the first to try to establish in America through the Brook Farm experiment the doctrine that no government is the best government. But their aims were all peaceful. No one ever charged them with conspiring to hurt even a fly. It was not until the bomb of the nihilists had taken the life of a czar that the doctrine began to be dangerous to society generally as now constituted and particularly to persons holding prominent places in its organization.

There are now, according to Die Autonomie, an anarchistic publication of London, 30,000 anarchists in the world and 150 newspapers and periodicals that spread their views before the world. London first and then New York are the great centers of refuge for the disciples of the red flag, though the most dangerous revolutionists are said to make their headquarters in Chicago and Paris. New York has 22 periodicals that uphold anarchy—almost as many as Paris. In Spain, centering at Barcelona, they are very strong, and in Italy they are growing [illegible]. The anarchists are worse off in these two countries than in any other European country, unless it be Russia, or than they are in the United States. France has suffered greatly from the depredations of the bomb throwers. England is beginning to wonder if her toleration has not been a mistake, and of late bombs are being found altogether too often for comfort in the United States. So far as the present writer knows, there are no anarchists in Asia, Africa, Australia or South America.

THE AUTONOMY CLUB.

The bomb thrown at the Haymarket in Chicago in 1886 was the first and has been the only decidedly serious manifestation of anarchism in America. The names of the men who were connected and punished as having been concerned in that work of carnage, whether guilty or not, have been placed on the roll of those not to be forgotten. To anarchists they seem to be inscribed in burning characters on the scroll of fame. To most other people they are written against the somber shadows of infamy in letters so black as to make its gloom almost luminous.

Other bombs have been thrown in other American cities than Chicago by persons quite as anxious to do harm as were those who threw the Chicago bomb, and many arrests have been made, but the results have never been very serious.

The names of certain New York anarchists are well known to readers of the newspapers. One does not need to read them twice to know that there are few among them of American birth or of English, Irish or Scottish blood. Schwab, Most, Peukert, Mikhal, Goldmann, all suggest central Europe. To me Justus Schwab is the most interesting American anarchist. I have a suspicion that, almost as much as is Johann Most, Schwab is an anarchist for "what there is in it." He keeps a saloon on the east side in New York. A piano stands at one side of the bar. There is a blackboard on one of the walls, and there are cases and a little rostrum. Schwab sells beer, like any other liquor dealer, for profit, and the fact that his beer is good undoubtedly adds to the availability of his place as a rendezvous. Sometimes his wife—a very pretty and attractive brunette—assists him. They have several children, rowdy, but well behaved, every one, who sometimes spend the early hours of the evening in the saloon among the guests, each of whom they salute with a kiss or handshake when bedtime comes.

It is after the children have gone that the evening becomes interesting at Schwab's. My frau goes behind the bar to deal out the malt drink and Schwab takes his place among the guests. He is a big man, with a handsome head, a massive neck and broad shoulders. Once he was athletic, but he has become pudgy of late from too much beer drinking. He has a voice that is [illegible] notwithstanding his devotion to anarchism, and he sings [illegible] or takes the [illegible] German or English according to the temper of his guests. [illegible]

"CAPITAL."

[An anarchistic caricature from Pere Peinard.]

works here as though he had the capacity of a tun, occasionally "setting up" a round himself to keep his guests good natured. Probably Schwab is really innocuous, as are most of the New York anarchists whose names are known. It is among those who keep out of the newspapers that there is perhaps real danger. It is only fair to Schwab to say that he sometimes claims to be a socialist and no anarchist, and that the more noisy of the anarchists have lately rendezvoused elsewhere, especially at Gruff Michel's, which is freely translated to mean "Gruff Mike's."

England, as the safe refuge of the enemies of organized society when driven out of other countries, has so far been pretty free from anarchistic outbreaks. Though the physical force men among the Irish agitators have used dynamite bombs, they cannot be properly spoken of as anarchists. They thought to substitute home rule for British rule, not to do away with all government.

But since the accidental explosion which killed an anarchist at Greenwich and the investigation of the Autonomy club, which disclosed such a network of plotting, England seems to have decided to draw the line tighter, and as it is possible if she does [illegible] between her authorities and the men with the bombs.

The strangest [illegible] in France, where the latest outrage [illegible] act of anarchy is also most daring and pronounced and whose [illegible] than ever before possible. Besides, the [illegible] in Russia, are in sympathy with the reds. It is predicted that if the traveling public [illegible] that the beautiful French capital will be [illegible] during the coming summer [illegible] receipts of Parisian [illegible] will be much below the normal figures, and that the prosperity of the city will correspondingly decrease. This causes the people generally to execrate the anarchists, but somehow the police seem to be powerless to stop the explosions.

Shortly after the last explosions in Paris and Rome—but when were the last explosions? Perhaps between the time of this writing and its printing there has been still another.

Let us hope that the cult of destruction is on the decline in America.

Wealth of the Golden State.

California has a population of 1,600,000, with the largest per capita wealth of any state in the Union. The assessed value of property has doubled since 1880. Last year her gold mines yielded $12,000,000. San Francisco is the leading whaling port of the world.

Making a Dictionary.

Dr. Murray, who is editing the new English dictionary, has had 100,000 books read by his helpers, who look for new and old meanings of words.

The Best Thing in Milk Pails is Pearline. That's the solid truth. You get them cleaner, and with less work and fuss, than with anything else you can use. It saves you so much that it's cheaper than the commonest stuff can be. Proof—the largest dairies and dealers use Pearline.

Some women are afraid of Pearline. They think that where cleaning is made so easy, there must be some harm to the thing washed. But Pearline can't hurt milk pails, anyway. And it can't hurt the finest lace or the softest hands, any more than it hurts milk pails.

Not So with the imitations—the fact that they are imitators or followers proves a lack of something.

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS IN SULLIVAN COUNTY ARE DOING.

All the News from All Parts of the County—Daily Doings of Interest Condensed from Our Sullivan Exchanges and Contributed by Wide-Awake Correspondents.

—The annual election of the Monticello Fire Department was held in the rooms of Neptune Engine Co., last week, Thursday evening, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: Chief, M. W. Demarest. First Assistant, Harvey Howe; Second Assistant, Geo. [illegible]; Secretary and Treasurer, W. J. Smith.

—Mr. G. W. Rockwell, of the Hotel Rockwell, Monticello, has been engaged by the Sullivan County Club to run its club house, in the park on the mountain above Wurtsboro. A better man for the place could not have been found.

—Rescue Hose Company has received its cart, and a very pretty one it is.

—Fifty applicants for teachers' certificates took the examination held, last week, by Commissioner Wright, of the Second District. Two secured second grade certificates and eleven third grade certificates.

—Henry M. Tagy, of White Lake, has purchased the outfit of William Jones and will run a market wagon to Newburgh, this summer.

—Joseph Hagelmann, the Narrowsburgh cigar manufacturer, has bought a lot on Mill street, Monticello and will erect on it a building to be used as a cigar factory. Citizens of Monticello contributed $1,000 to secure the location of the factory there. It is expected that from twenty to thirty hands will be employed. The contract for the building has been awarded to A. C. Wells.

Good Business Prospects—A Subject of Discussion—The Rider Engine Works to Resume—Minor Notes.

Correspondence Argus and Mercury.

—Business in this village will soon be booming. It has been quiet, but every indication point toward a lively summer and fall.

—Hedges and barns are sometimes used for fencing, but there will always be a "cat hole" left. To the wise a word is sufficient, otherwise moral suasion.

—An approach, for fire purposes, located near the W. V. railroad bridge, has been the subject of much discussion. The Board of Trustees held a special meeting for the purpose of deciding on its valuation. That body of "fathers" is now at the business, but they appear to be cut off the old block,—ever setting a snag in the way of any business, that will benefit the place. So they asked Mr Hill, the man who desires it, $1,000 for the approach. We are of the opinion that the ground can be bought for less, as three appraisers can be named to estimate its value. The property is of no use to any one but Mr. Hill and should he get it, the coal and lumber business will be more divided. He has come to stay and we are glad of it.

—It is current rumor on the street that the Rider Engine Works, will open on full time May 1st. With this and the other factories running on full time, the village will come up to its former good standing.

—It has been stated that a man from New York, will open an oyster house in the store formerly occupied by Snedon, the baker. A good idea.

SLATE HILL.

Correspondence Argus and Mercury.

—Services will be held at the Brookfield Baptist Church, Wednesday, April 18th, commencing at 10:30 a. m. Preaching by Elder J. D. Hubbell.

LITERARY NOTES

—A great Grant number, apropos of Gen. Grant's birthday, is announced by the editors of McClure's Magazine for May. With an unequalled series of portraits of Grant, covering the whole term of his manhood from his cadetship at West Point to his closing days at Mount McGregor, will be presented a series of studies and reminiscences from his son, Col. Frederick D Grant, and his friends and fellow soldiers, General Horace Porter, General O. O. Howard and General Ely S. Parker. An autograph letter by General Grant's father, written in 1851, giving new glimpses into the General's career and character, will appear in fac simile.

GET NEW BLOOD IN APRIL.

The Body a Machine That Cannot Be Stopped for Repairs—Paine's Celery Compound Feeds its Shattered Nerves, Purifies the Blood, Makes Refreshing Sleep Possible.

March winds and April showers sweep and scour the earth and clear the air of winter impurities, making it sweet and wholesome.

The same thing takes place in the body, the pores open and the blood that creeps in winter now rushes through the arteries in a fuller, stronger stream.

Now is the great season of purification, of new life, new hope, new ambition. It is the best time to get well. Spring is hopeful, and the invalid gets well quicker when hopeful than when despondent.

Thousands of people throughout the country are this month taking Paine's celery compound—the great spring medicine that makes people well.

"What March does not kill may be done for by April," says an old adage. The nine weeks from Feb. 1 to May 1 develop the hidden germs of disease inside the body and without. For health's sake back yards, cellars, and the dark closets and corners must be cleaned out, and for health's sake every one needs to take a spring medicine like Paine's celery compound; years have shown the wisdom of doing so.

April has always been set down as the best time to remove impurities from the blood and to regulate the nervous system.

The formula for Paine's celery compound was given to the world by Edward E Phelps, M. D., L. L. D., while he was still active professor in the Dartmouth medical school. A remarkable nerve food and blood purifier, it is the most valuable contribution to the world's progress that American college influence has sent forth.

Its power of restoring lives of countless men and women from [illegible] and despair to strength and usefulness is known in every part of the country. It has added years of active, joyous existence to thousands of weak, tired out, ailing women who thought themselves doomed to be invalids for the rest of their days. Paine's celery compound cures thoroughly and finally rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, diseases of heart, liver, and kidneys, and every form of nervous weakness. It cures as nature cures, by feeding the vital [illegible] most parts of the body, the blood, and nerves.

All the parts of the body are adjusted with the greatest nicety, and a derangement of one affects the whole. We cannot stop this complicated mechanism for repairs, because we do not know the [illegible] that would set it going again. The repairs must be made when it is in motion.

It is in sleep that the machine goes slowly, the heart beats less rapidly, the blood circulates less quickly, the nerves rest, the muscles relax, and each gains vigor in the only way it can—by sleep and rest. Paine's celery compound quiets and regulates the nerves by supplying the material for their repair, and the tired, exhausted men and women, on the verge of breaking down, gets sleep and the means of recovery to health and strength.

All over the country Paine's celery compound is convincing overworked business men, anxious housekeepers, women behind counters and in offices, school teachers, and all who use their brains excessively, that the unqualified praise from physicians and others, who are careful of what they say, is none too strong for this great remedy that is making so many well and strong.

A. E. NICKINSON, BUSINESS MANAGER

FRIDAY, APRIL 13, 1894.

The Common Council, last night, by a vote of eight to one, voted to undo its hasty and ill advised action in the matter of the paving of North street and Wickham avenue, and for this it is to be commended. It is no easy matter for individuals or bodies of men to acknowledge a wrong and make amends therefor. We hope the lesson will not be lost upon the members of the Council. The Democratic doctrine of "the greatest good to the greatest number" should be their guide.

The death of David Dudley Field, recorded in our dispatches, ends a most remarkable career. He was a lawyer of conspicuous ability, was possessed of wide and varied learning, and was a ready and forcible writer on many subjects. His private life was blameless, yet despite this and his unquestioned talents and attainments, he never regained the hold on public confidence which he lost when, as the legal adviser of Fisk and Gould, he devised and carried out the schemes that made it possible for those almost penniless adventurers to sieze upon and pillage the Erie railroad.

The Republican majority in the Assembly disgraced itself and the State of New York, yesterday, when by trick and device it defeated ex-Speaker Sulzer's Factory Inspector bill. Mr. O'Grady was in the chair. The motion was to reconsider, and the vote as announced showed sixty-four affirmative votes, one less than the necessary number. An examination of the roll call showed that Mr. Schillinger, Democrat, was recorded as not voting. He asserted that he had voted in the affirmative, and half-a-dozen Democratic members whose seats are near his confirmed his statement, yet Speaker Malby, who had resumed the chair, by arbitrary rulings prevented a correction of the record, and what was a mistake due to carelessness or a deliberate falsification of the result of the vote, stands as part of the official records of the Assembly.

OBITUARY.

Gideon S. Bradner.

From the Warwick Dispatch.

Gideon S. Bradner died at his home in Bellvale on Tuesday morning, aged sixty-eight years. Mr. Bradner was one of our oldest and best known citizens. He raised a large family and was always a hard worker. He was noted for his dry humor, and many quaint expressions made him famous among his acquaintances.

Mr. Bradner is survived by his widow, Jemima Boorman, and seven children, William B., Fred, Smith, Annie, Kate, Emily and Mary.

War on Slot Machines in Port Jervis.

From the Port Jervis Union.

The war on slot machines which started in New York and Brooklyn, some weeks ago, struck Port Jervis, Wednesday, when the members of the police force were instructed to order the slot machines taken out of a number of saloons, cigar shops and other places. Their removal is ordered on the ground that their use is against the provisions of the penal code. The order does not, of course, affect the machines where a penny or five cents is dropped and the person receives chewing gum or any other commodity in exchange.

Organization of the Democratic County Committee.

The members of the Democratic County Committee met at the Russell House in this city, to-day, and organized by the election of Hon. W. H. Clark, of Minisink, as Chairman, P. H. Nolan, of Deerpark, as Secretary, and P. H. Fitzpatrick, of Newburgh, as Treasurer.

"FLOWERS OF THE FOREST."

A Very Successful Second Performance —A Large and Well Pleased Audience.

"Flowers of the Forest," and "Fennel," were repeated at the Casino, last night, before an audience of much larger proportions than that of Wednesday evening.

There was a decided improvement in the acting, singing and dancing of the young people, who appeared to be inspired by the confidence which a large audience always imparts to the amateur or professional.

Miss Mattie Cordner and Messrs. Bailey, Young and Hathaway repeated their successes in the several roles of "Fennel," the pretty little one act curtain raiser.

Misses Morgans, Cordner, Gregory and Cortright in the leading roles of "Flowers of the Forest," left nothing to be desired. Each and every one of them appeared to be as much at home, as if she had been on the stage for years. The other ladies Misses Myers, Rose and Sliter, were excellent in their respective characters.

For the gentlemen, Mr. George F. Bailey carried off the honors with all the others very close seconds. In fact the talent displayed by all the young people was remarkable.

The young ladies and several of the young gentlemen were kindly remembered by their friends in the way of floral offerings. The ushers were kept busy handing or throwing bouquets over the footlights.

The dancing of the Highland Fling by little Miss Pauline Stern and Master John Bright, was greeted with hearty applause and proved a pleasing feature of the entertainment. The dancing of Miss Maud Barrett, was also well received.

Sheds Crushed by the Weight of Snow

One of the sheds attached to Frank Wilson's Holding House livery stables gave way under the heavy weight of snow on the roof, last night, and was completely demolished. There were several wagons under the shed, one of which, belonging to E. E. Conkling, was quite badly damaged.

—Mr. James B. Mackle, owner and chief fun maker, of the Grimes's Cellar Door Company, paid this office a very pleasant visit, this afternoon. He reports a very successful season, so far, having had crowded houses everywhere. You will miss a great treat if you fail to see him at the Casino, to-night.

AN AUTOMATIC LIGHTHOUSE.

There Is No Keeper, but the Bright Light Blazes Perpetually.

A remarkable lighthouse is the one which sheds its warning rays from an estuary of the Gironde, in France, where it stands upon an isolated rock in the midst of a treacherous reef. The peculiarity of this lighthouse is that it is unoccupied, and yet its lamp is burning perpetually. The famous Eddystone light on the coast of England, rising from a rock that is only large enough to afford a foundation for the structure, is remarkable because the men having it in charge are able to leave their confined quarters only once in three months, when a vessel comes to them with supplies, letters, papers and a new detachment of watchers.

It was to do away with this exacting and lonesome life that the French engineers set themselves about the task of devising a method by which the usefulness of the lighthouse could be maintained without so much personal attention. It thus happened that a lamp was invented that would burn continuously for two months without being trimmed or replenished.

The burning fluid used in this lamp is an ordinary mineral oil. The tube in the interior of the lamp is furnished with a wick having a thickness three times as great as those employed generally in lighthouses. Around the burning surface of the wick is a cake made of a patented preparation consisting largely of carbonized tar. This protection assures the duration and the uniformity of the flame. A chimney made of mica is placed around the flame, and this insures an increase in the power of the light. The supply of oil is assured by means of a reservoir containing 100 quarts, the lamp consuming 50 grams each hour. To provide always for the reservoir being furnished with sufficient fuel a gauge is fixed at its side that governs the supply flowing in from another reservoir at a distance, and this gauge permits just 50 grams per hour to percolate through the little supply pipe into the supply reservoir.

The diameter of the lantern is 56 inches and it cost $1,400. The intensity of the light keeps equable until the expiration of two months, when it is necessary to visit the lighthouse and replenish the wick. The light can be seen more than 12 miles at sea. The wick is cleansed and drawn up gradually by the action of the tar cake at its mouth. The French government is arranging to put up others of these houses, and it is also perfecting an invention by which a perpetual electric light can be controlled by wires running through a submarine cable to the the land.—Exchange.

Hard Deposits In Steam Boilers.

A very simple method of preventing hard deposits in steam boilers is mentioned by M. Schmidt, a French engineer. There are two boilers in use at the same time, one being at rest, and the water in use is very bad, being very calcareous and magnesic, with organic matter, chlorides and a little sulphate of of lime. Each boiler is allowed to go on working for about 500 hours before being cleaned, when it is stopped, with the water in it, and allowed to cool down for about a week. The masonry is allowed to become cold, and then the tap is opened, also the safety valve, so that the water runs naturally out of the boiler, the latter, when empty, being entered and simply swept. The deposit, being in the form of damp mud, is easily swept away, leaving the boiler as clean inside as if it were new.

This method has been in use some five years and seems to show that the ordinary hardening of deposits in boilers is due to the absence of water in them while the mud and the iron are being heated by the brickwork when the boiler has been emptied by the ordinary method under pressure. It is necessary, however, under this system, to be able to do without the particular boiler for some eight days.—New York Sun.

THE COMMON COUNCIL.

PROCEEDINGS OF AN ADJOURNED MEETING. LAST NIGHT.

The Mayor's Message—Remonstrance Against the Proposed South Street Sewer—Excelsiors Want a New Truck—Petitions for Street Grading—The Resolution to Pave North Street and Wickham Avenue Reconsidered and Laid on the Table.

An adjourned meeting of the Common Council was held, last evening, all the members being present.

After the reading of the minutes, Mayor Stansbury read his message, which is as follows:

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Middletown.

The charter declares that it shall be the duty of the Mayor "to communicate to the Common Council, at least once a year, a general statement of the finances as he shall deem expedient."

The present condition of affairs throughout the country admonishes us to be prudent and economical in our administration,—to avoid all hasty and ill-considered action involving the expenditure of the people's money, and in every way to guard carefully the interests entrusted to our care.

Under the head of finances the first and most important consideration is collections. Under all circumstances taxes and assessments should be levied with perfect fairness and impartiality, and having been so levied they should be as fairly and impartially collected.

There are are now due the city for unpaid taxes and assessments, various amounts aggregating nearly $10,000. If any of the items have been illegally assessed, payment cannot—and should not be enforced, but, in so far as they are fair and just, they should be collected. The power and authority granted you by the charter enables you to take such steps as are necessary for the collection of all legal claims.

STREETS.

The construction of sewers and the extension of water and gas mains throughout the city, have necessarily disturbed the road beds in many of our streets, and thorough and intelligent work will be necessary to put them in creditable condition.

The purchase, a few years ago, of a road scraper, should be followed, this year, by the purchase of a road roller and with these two necessary appliances, and with the use of the best available material for repairs, I feel assurred that the present year will see marked improvement in the condition of the unpaved streets of the city.

The question of permanent street improvement will demand your consideration, and you will be called on to pass upon the merits of the different forms of pavements proposed, and I trust that the moneys to be devoted to this important work will be expended wisely and that the results obtained will justify your decision in this matter, which ever kind you may adopt. We have one street paved with asphalt blocks, and it must be said that this pavement has in some ways proven desirable. Vitrified brick pavements are being laid in many cities and strong claims are made in their favor, and I believe that if our citizens had the opportunity of seeing this form of pavement in actual use, its many advantages would be demonstrated to their satisfaction, and lead to its adoption as the pavement for the "Greater Middletown."

POLICE.

In view of the continued growth of the city and increasing demand for police protection it will probably be necessary in the near future to increase our police force, and at the proper time it will no doubt be wise to secure such legislation as will enable us to increase the force and establish a system of graded salaries,—for the officers and men. Such a policy would, in my opinion, result in the better discipline of the force, and therefore increase its efficiency.

BOARDS OF EDUCATION AND WATER COMMISSIONERS.

The reports from these boards will apprise you of their respective conditions and requirements.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The report of the Registrar of Vital Statistics shows that the health of the city is in a very satisfactory condition—there being no cases of contagious diseases at present, and the death rate as reported is at the lowest point; these desirable conditions are traceable, to a large extent, to the efforts of the Board of Health, and this Board should have our confidence and support.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

We may feel assured that a liberal policy towards this important department will meet with the approval of our citizens. We all feel an interest and pride in the fire department as it stands, to-day, and it should be our aim and ambition to put it upon even a stronger and better basis, if possible. The powers and duties of the Fire Wardens should be clearly defined and understood, and while the Common Council is given certain discretionary powers, as to the direction of frame buildings within the fire limits, applications for permits of this class should be closely scrutinized and absolutely refused except in special cases, where it is plainly evident that the erection of such buildings can in no way endanger the property of others. Violation of this section of the charter should in all cases, be dealt with according to law.

It is to be hoped that the various departments of the city government will work in entire harmony for the ensuing year, for the good of the city, the best interests of the citizens, and the credit of the administration.

Respectfully Submitted,
W. K. STANSBURY,
Mayor.

Mayor Stansbury again presented the request of Mr. Crawford for permission to erect a greenhouse on Cottage street.

EXCELSIORS WANT A NEW TRUCK.

Mr. J. E. Gibbs, as representative of a committee of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company, asked for a new hook and ladder truck. He said the old truck had outlived its usefulness. An extension truck might do, but he thought the aerial truck would be the most practical and more economical in the end. Horses would be needed for such a truck, but he said that in Binghamton, for the first few years, the company offered $5 to the livery concern that would have a team first on the ground and he thought such a plan would work here. An aerial truck would cost about $2,800 and an extension truck about $1,800.

A STRONG REMONSTRANCE.

Mr. G. W. Galloway presented a remonstrance from the property owners of South street, against the construction of a sanitary sewer, which, he said, was signed by a large majority of the property owners. He spoke only for that part of the street south of Genung street, but property owners between Genung and Fulton streets had signed the remonstrance, for, owing to the hard times, they were unable to stand the expense.

South of Genung street there were but fourteen buildings, the remainder being vacant lands, and all these properties drain naturally either to the east or west. Twelve of the owners of buildings would not connect with the sewer if built, in fact but one really wants it and not more than three or four will use a sewer for years to come. There is no excuse for the sewer on sanitary grounds. No more perfect natural drainage exists anywhere than on Bennett Hill, and he invited the Council and especially the Board of Health to investigate. It would also be an expensive sewer as the lands on the east side are much lower than the other and would require a very deep sewer to be of service. The cost had been estimated at from $3,000 to $5,000 and this expense must be borne by a few people. The time may come, if the city grows, when such a sewer will be necessary and, said Mr. Galloway, when that time comes no one will more heartily or cheerfully contribute to its construction than I. He said one of the signers to the petition, owning 225 feet of frontage, had signed the remonstrance. He said he understood the object was to furnish work for the unemployed. This was a worthy motive, but the people on the street could not afford to make this private donation. It is asking too much and is not in accordance with the teachings of the good book. He asked that the Council observe the rule of all legislative bodies, to so act as to secure the greatest good to the greatest number. The remonstrance represented a frontage of 3,709 feet.

A petition from residents of Albert street asked that the street be graded and curbed and flagged within sixty days.

A petition of residents of Washington street that the street between Academy avenue and Prospect avenue be graded, curbed and sidewalks graveled, was laid on the table.

A petition of residents of Prospect avenue asked that the extension of the street to Washington street be accepted. Referred to Street Committee.

Mr. Mance of the committee on the application of D. R. Miller for the release of the old roadway on North street, reported that Mr. Miller had placed a curb and gutter across the street, and that he had made inquiry of Ex-Mayor Boyd, who said he had never agreed to give up the road to Mr. Miller and had no authority to do so. The matter was laid over until the next meeting.

THE TOWN CLOCK.

Mr. Funnell reported that he had seen B. F. Gordon in regard to the clocks, and that he had been informed by him that the clock in Grace Church was worthless; the clock in the Congregational Church needed repairs, but that he would put it in repair and keep it in order for one year for $100.

THE PROPOSED PAVING OF NORTH STREET AND WICKHAM AVENUE.

Mr. Greene said that as one of the members who had voted for the paving of North street and Wickham avenue, he regarded the action rather hasty and while he would vote for the improvement under different circumstances, he would move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. Mance said he would second the motion, as he believed that the petitioners did not represent the required frontage. He also thought the Council had acted too hastily.

Mr. Baldwin thought there was nothing illegal about it.

Mr. Greene said it was but justice to the people along the line of the street and the taxpayers generally to investigate the question of brick paving before taking any steps toward paving.

Mr. Reed said the resolution as passed was illegal and there was no other course but to reconsider the action.

President Dorrance expressed the same opinion.

THE RESOLUTION RESCINDED.

A vote was taken on Mr. Greene's motion and all voted in the affirmative except Mr. Baldwin, who voted no.

Mr. Reed moved to lay the matter on the table, which was carried by the same vote.

On motion of Mr. Luddington, it was ordered that Albert street, from Wickham avenue to Ogden street, be curbed, flagged and guttered within sixty days.

On motion of Mr. Reed, the City Engineer was directed to make a copy of all sewer maps now in his possession, or which may come into his possession in future, and that said copies be compared with the originals by the Sewer Committee and if found correct, to be deposited with the Orange County Trust Co., for safe keeping.

On motion of Mr. Reed, it was ordered that a sanitary sewer be constructed on Sprague avenue, from Washington street to connect with the Fulton street sewer, a distance of 600 feet; also directing the Engineer to prepare a map and specifications for submission to the Sewer Commissioners.

On motion of Mr. Sinsabaugh, the vote, at last meeting, on the petition of Robt. G. Crawford, for permission to build an addition to his greenhouse, on Cottage street, was reconsidered, and on motion of Mr. Mance the petition was granted.

From our regular correspondent.

—Mr. Harriman's manager was in town, this week, and said that the celebrated stallion Stamboul will certainly be brought to Goshen.

—The Goshen Band began practice last night for its summer night concerts, which will begin in June. Reports that the band would disband are not true and one of our greatest summer pleasures will not be discontinued.

—Mr. Alfred L. Mooney, of New York, and Miss Adelaide Carle, will be married at Trinity M. E. Church, New York city, Wednesday evening, April 25th. Mr. Mooney is well known in this village and has many friends here.

—The residence now occupied by Mr. Geo. W. Price will be sold at auction by Mr. H. W. Nanny, referee, to morrow, at 11 a. m.

—The entertainment at the Music Hall, last evening, was not very largely attended. It was very good, however, and should have commanded a much larger audience.

Four Boys Arraigned Charged With Theft—To Be Examined, To-morrow

For some time past a gang of young hoodlums has been raiding front and back stoops, stealing milk and provisions which have been left by milkmen and grocerymen, and frequent complaints have been lodged at police headquarters against the culprits, but no direct evidence connecting any particular boy or gang of boys has as yet been obtained.

Last week two boys were arrested on suspicion, and this morning four more were before the Recorder. They were remanded in the custody of their parents for examination, to-morrow.

It is thought that several of them are connected with the disappearance of a wheelbarrow from the front of a Highland avenue residence, one day last week.

HIS APOLOGY FOR CROSS WORDS.

It Was a Wildest Scheme, but the Nevada Cowboy Propitiated the Lady.

"On my overland trip to San Francisco I was treated to the exhibition of a rough [illegible] put very much on his good behavior," said a New York lady. "We had got out at one of the stations in Nevada for dinner. I have forgotten the name of the place, if ever I noted it, but if it wasn't Poverty Flat it was misnamed. Not feeling hungry, I leaned back in my chair, idly looking at the distant sand hills through the open window opposite, unmindful of the rattle of [illegible] around me. A rough voice at my very ear startled me from my dream:

"'[illegible], why the hell don't you pass me the butter?'

[illegible]

[illegible] He had brought it to the station to send it to a friend who kept a 'clubhouse,' whatever that is, in Carson City. I asked him to tell us how he caught it, but before he could answer the conductor called out, 'All aboard!' As the train got under way I looked back and saw my two friends flying across the country on their mustangs."—New York Sun.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. The Power of Gold.

He loved her.

She loved him.

They loved each other.

But her father objected because the young man was almost a total stranger.

The time had come when the youth must ask the father for his daughter, and he feared to go to him.

He held a long conference with his beloved.

He told her he did not want to ask her father.

"George, dear," she asked in a tremulous whisper, "how much are you worth?"

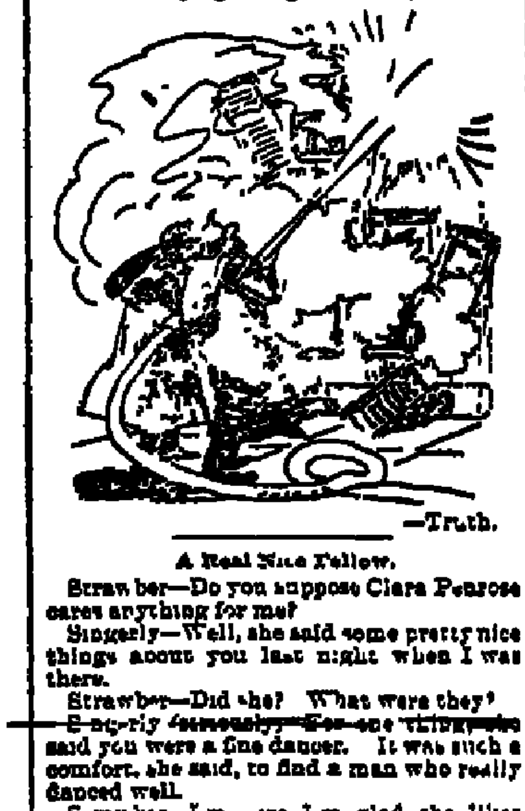
"A million dollars, darling," he responded proudly.

Her face shone in the twilight.

"Then you don't have to ask him," she said, with simple trust. "Let him know that, and he will ask you."

And George gave the old man a tip.—Detroit Free Press.

Playing to Light Houses.



—Truth.

A Real Nice Fellow.

Singerly—Well, she said some pretty nice things about you last night when I was there.

Strawber—Did she? What were they?

Singerly (seriously)—For one thing, she said you were a fine dancer. It was such a comfort, she said, to find a man who really danced well.

Strawber—I'm sure I'm glad she likes my dancing. I've spent enough time at it.

Singerly—Then she said your manners were perfect. It was a pleasure to go anywhere with you, she said, because she felt so perfectly secure with you and sure of you.

Strawber (delighted)—Gracious! I had no idea she thought so much of me as that. Did she say anything else?

Singerly—Oh, yes. She spoke about your conversation. In the light society talk of the day she thinks you have no equal, and then you are so full of tact and your clothes were always so stylish, so neat, without being too extreme. Oh, she gave you a great send off, old man.

Strawber (beside himself)—I should say she did. I must cultivate that girl. Beautiful, rich, accomplished. What more could a man want in a wife? I have always (complacently) fancied her, but now I think the feeling is even deeper than that.

Singerly (warningly)—Don't let it get too deep, old man. I didn't tell you all.

Strawber—Didn't you? What more was there?

Singerly—She wound up by saying that, in fact, you were just the sort of a fellow that no girl would ever think of marrying.—Exchange.

Greatly Surprised.

Lieutenant Blank of the army is 6 feet 4 inches tall and tips the scale at 250 pounds. He was stationed for many years in Washington, attached to a scientific bureau of the government, his writings being well known to the scientific world.

Much of his writing was done evenings at home, and he would sometimes carry home necessary reference books and return them to his office at will. One morning he gathered together several, none of them very small, and putting them under his arm started for his office.

In the course of his walk he was brought face to face with a very black little negro, who, with arms akimbo, chin dropped and his shining black eyes filled with wonder, had planted himself directly in front of Lieutenant Blank.

Before the gentleman had time to do more than take in this apparition of darkness the little "pickaninny" had thrown back his head so as to be able to gaze up into the lieutenant's face, and in a tone of comical amazement exclaimed:

"Good gracious, mister, is you gwine to school?"—Youth's Companion.

An Unreachable Adage.

"Doan' fohgit," said Uncle Eben to some Foggy Bottom boys who were playing craps, "dat curses laik chickens'll come home ter roos'."

"Maybe dey will," said one of the gamesters, "but I hab knowledge ob some chickens dat ain' gwinter come home ter roos', not fo' mo' 'n some night befoh l-ss."

"Dat's so, chile, I reckon. Dar am chickens dat won' git back ter roos'—not 'less dey comes back ez ghos' chickens. An I nebber am heard ob no henhouse sukcatt tonight."—Washington Star.

He Quit at That.

Fresh Drummer (who has got on at last station)—I'm really not only speaking to you, but when I see a pretty young woman all alone I always introduce myself. And you know we drummers are hard to beat.

Pretty Young Woman (coolly)—Oh, I don't know. My husband, who will be back as soon as he finishes his cigar, had no trouble beating the other two who tried to flirt with me.—Boston Herald.

Disappointed.

In one of our large cities a short time ago an editor was met by a friend, who, taking him by the hand, exclaimed:

"I am delighted to see you. How long are you going to stay?"

"Why, I think," said the editor, "I shall stay while my money lasts."

"How disappointed I am!" said the friend. "I hoped you were going to stay a day or two."—Tit-Bits.

He Was Wondering.

"Have you seen the petrified man they have on exhibition?"

"Yes. I was wondering"—

"What?"

"I was wondering if he died hard."—New York Press.

Rebuked.

Hobkins (petulantly)—Say, Dobkins, when are you going to pay me that $10 you owe me?

Dobkins (aggrieved)—Now, do I look like a fortune teller, Hobkins?—B., K. & Co.'s Monthly.

'THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

THE LAST DAY OF A VERY BUSY AND WELL SPENT WEEK.

Prof. Sanford Present and Talks on "The Trend of Educational Work"—State Superintendent Crooker Addresses the Institute.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

The afternoon session showed an attendance of 132.

Commissioner Clark introduced Dr. Capin, of the New Paltz Normal School, who had been summoned to take charge of the Institute on account of the sudden illness of Prof. Sanford.

Dr. Capin took up school management. The Doctor began by telling of a conversation he heard on the train, in which a man said that the more he studied the tariff question the less he knew about it and he did not think it ever would be more definitely settled than it now was. He said this applied to him as he had devoted twenty-five years to the study of school management, but knew nothing definite about it. One of the first requirements in a teacher is kindness, sympathy and true heartedness.

Corporal punishment should be avoided, but can not be absolutely done away with. The teacher should not be in haste to inflict punishment. It is best to wait.

One must understand all the circumstances in inflicting punishment, for one cannot make a universal rule which can be applied in all cases. Many schools are governed too much. It is the duty of the teacher to be around and see that rules are followed when they are once made. People do not like to be governed too much and the best success in school management will be gained where there is a freedom of action.

2:30—3:15—Mrs. Burke resumed her talk on primary reading. The first lesson is an exercise in expression. Teachers are expected to begin this work when the children are about five years old, although children are not always ready to begin at this age. A test should be made of the child's power of observation and unless they have some power of distinguishing form but little progress can be made in this.

At the first reading lesson, first have the child get the idea, pronunciation, its written form, application, and then drill in all of these. This should be continued until he recognizes it wherever he comes across it. Have him write it and correct any faults that he may make. In this work a teacher should be careful to detect errors that arise from defective eye sight. Very often a child may have a very serious defect of its eye sight, which has passed unnoticed heretofore.

In drill in reading, children should not be allowed to read the same word or sentence in regular order, for after one or two have read them others will repeat what others have said. It is a good plan to alternate sentences or words.

Mrs. Burke advised having children learn the alphabet.

In reply to a question as to the merits and demerits of print and script, she said that at first they should learn script, but print should be used early in their work. But circumstances must govern the method in all places.

FRIDAY MORNING.

There were 141 teachers present, this morning.

Prof. Sanford, who has recovered from his indisposition of yesterday, opened the session, by announcing that Hon. J. F. Crooker, State Superintendent of Public Instruction would be present at the afternoon session.

Mrs. Burke took up primary work at the first period. She urged that children should be taught to observe and suggested that such subjects as botany should be taken up for this purpose. Teachers are apt to underestimate the ability of children and often make the mistake of teaching too much of one subject, especially reading. Supplementary reading is of great use in observation lessons.

In the second period, Prof. Sanford discussed "The Trend of Educational Thought," speaking particularly of the report of the committee of ten appointed by the National Association, which is receiving much adverse criticism, and which calls for enriching and shortening the course of study.

Too much time is spent on the study of geography and the abolition of memorizing in reading was recommended.

The mythology fad has a demoralizing tendency, and there should be more reading of a general character.

The kindergarten will not become an important factor in our educational system until it is made a part of the public schools. But kindergarten play should lead up to something useful.

One of the tendencies of the times is to shorten school life and so much has to be crowded in a short time, that three or four years of a child's life cannot be spared for kindergarten work.

Spelling, which a few years ago was abolished as a separate exercise, is now receiving the attention it deserves as a separate study.

Mental arithmetic is again being generally taught. The trouble is to find a place for it in the already too crowded routine.

In the third period Mrs. Burke gave a class exercise with children from Miss Morgans' room in the High street school.

She first edified them by mixing camphor and water; then showed them some flowers, and tangled them up with peduncles, petioles, corollas, calyxes, stamens and pistils. Then the children were required to tear pretty pansies apart and guess the names of the fragments, and were asked to think of some sentence in which these botanical names were used. Most of them didn't think.

Mrs. Burke wound up by asking the helpless children if they would not like to hear a story. They knew that they were expected to say "yes," and did so; whereupon she told them a petiole, peduncle and pistillate story.

Then some of the children tried their hands at the same style of narrative, and showed that during the three-quarters of an hour they had been on the rack they had become saturated with botanical knowledge.

[It is due to Prof Wilson, who has furnished the excellent reports of the Teachers' Institute that have appeared in the ARGUS, to say that he did not write the concluding portion of this report. For his report we have taken the liberty of substituting a version of Mrs. Burke's class exercise, which gives the impression that it made on one not a member of the Institute.—EDITORS ARGUS.]

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Prof. J. F Crooker, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, arrived in town at 11.30 a. m., and at the opening of the afternoon session was introduced to the teachers by Commissioner Clark.

The Superintendent read a very interesting and instructive address, a summary of which will be published to-morrow.

Mother and Twins Cremated.

Recently a Mohave squaw in California gave birth to twins. For a woman to bear twins is, in the eyes of the Mohaves, a sure indication that the mother is the consort of evil spirits and is a witch. There is but one penalty—death for mother and children. The portion of the tribe of which the mother was a member was summoned, and it was decided to enforce the custom. The papooses were brained, but the mother was doomed to a more horrible fate.

Everything belonging to her was collected and placed in the "shack" with her, the door closed up and fire applied to the structure. With true Indian stoicism she would not cry out and died without a murmur, and her soul passed to the happy hunting grounds, where her newborn babes had preceded her. In two hours naught was left of the structure but smoldering embers. All this occurred in less than half a mile of The Needles.—Needles Eye

A Toe Chopper In Trouble.

William Henderson of Englewood is under arrest for stealing toes. The toes he took were not from human beings, but from the staff figures along the Transportation building. William is of a scientific turn of mind, and it is said contemplated writing a book on the big toe and its peculiarities among various nations. When arrested, he had a chisel and was cheerfully chipping the pedal extremities of Robert Fulton. He had a sackful of toes, which are now at the Woodlawn station.—Chicago Times.

Unexpected Wealth.

Under a recent law in California the local banks published a list of unclaimed deposits, with the result that many people learn for the first time of neglected wealth belonging to them. One woman, who has since married a second time, discovers that her first husband had $26,661 on deposit of which he had never told her. Another family whose members were in desperate straits learns of a deposit of a husband and father, now deceased, of $600.—San Francisco Call.

Nobody Claims the Money.

Jacob Dierdorff, a farmer living near Coal City, whose hen roost had been visited and depleted several different times, put his poultry under lock and key for safekeeping. A few mornings later he found the door pried off its hinges and more chickens missing, but on looking inside the door he found a pocketbook containing $80 in cash. He advertised what he had found, but nobody as yet has called for it.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

When a person takes a cold it is not infrequently accompanied by a cough. Constant coughing if not relieved at once by Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the ready cure for all such affections, will weaken the patient, intensify the irritation causing the cough until headache and fever are developed, often ending in inflammation of the air-passages.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

THURSDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Thursday an interesting case was before the Court. The title of the case is Thomas Atwood vs. Edward O. Beirne. The former sued the latter for damages for alleged false imprisonment and arrest. Mr. Atwood is a compositor in the office of the Port Jervis Gazette. Beirne is a sort of railroad broker or "time buyer," at Port Jervis. It seems that one day he missed his bunch of keys from the front door of his office. For some reason or other, he caused the arrest of Thomas Atwood on the charge of taking the keys. Atwood was arraigned before Justice Cox. The case was dismissed, there being no evidence to substantiate the charge. Then, Mr. Atwood wished compensation for the indignity to which he had been subjected by being arrested, led through the streets by an officer, and arraigned before the Justice. Consequently he instituted the suit.

The jury had not reached a verdict when the Newburgh papers went to press, last evening.

An inquest in the case of Frank Buckley vs. John J. Schwack resulted in a judgment of $234.75.

The case of William Washer vs. Edward O. Beirne was dismissed with costs. An allowance of five per cent. was made.

An inquest in the case of Ida J. Colville vs. William Sheehan resulted in a verdict of $224 30 for plaintiff.

An inquest in the case of John Galt, et al., vs Robert McCartney, was held.

An inquest in the case of Charles H. Hanford vs. William F. Reilly, was held. A judgment of $1,100 was given.

A case in which Frederick Reed, Jr, is plaintiff against H. Aldridge was then called. Reed was at one time a foreman on Mr. Aldridge's brick yard at Fishkill, and he alleges that he has a claim against his employer.

WORK OF THE GRAND JURY.

In the cases of Henrietta Newkirk, accused of bigamy, David Cunningham, Thomas Ryan and John J. Tice, of Newburgh, accused of stealing a horse and wagon, no indictments were found, and these four prisoners were discharged. In the cases of James F. Morse and Augustus Riese, brought in from Goshen, no indictments were found, and they also were discharged.

No indictment was found against Tom and George Murphy and the young man Collins, accused of assaulting Spencer G. Brown.

There was no indictment against Mrs. Henry Schoonmaker and daughter, Annie, of Walden, accused of killing an infant.

Altogether twenty-one cases were considered by the Grand Jury. Thirteen indictments were found. The indicted parties in custody are as follows:

John Clayton, indicted for assault in the first degree. Clayton nearly killed two men, Tierney and Welsh, near Coldenham, several weeks ago.

Theodore Godfrey, of Middletown indicted for forgery.

John Reid, indicted for burglary. He broke open an automatic weighing machine at Tuxedo and stole $2.14.

Frank Ayres, indicted for grand larceny. He traveled around the country stealing in various places, and is now in the penitentiary at Albany.

The Sense of Sight.

Like every other sense, that of sight improves by use under healthy conditions, and therefore the people who have the greatest exercise of their vision in the open air under the light of the sun have the best eyesight. Generally speaking, savage tribes possess the keenest eyesight, acquired through hunting. Natives of the Solomon islands are very quick at perceiving distant objects, such as ships at sea, and will pick out birds concealed in dense foliage some 60 or 70 feet high. Shepherds and sailors are blessed with good sight.

Eskimos will detect a white fox in the snow a great distance away, while the Arabs of the deserts of Arabia have such extreme powers of vision that on the vast plains of the desert they will pick out objects invisible to the ordinary eye, at ranges from one to ten miles distant. Among civilized peoples the Norwegians have better eyesight than most if not all others, as they more generally fulfill the necessary conditions. The reason why defective eyes are so much on the increase in this country, and in Europe lies in too much study of books in early life and in badly lighted rooms.—Brooklyn Eagle.

STARVING CAB HORSES.

Owing to the Hard Times They Have Had to Go Without Working Rations.

No enthusiastic mass meetings or charity balls or dry goods sales have been held for the thousands of unemployed, crippled and half starved horses throughout the city. But their sufferings have been none the less severe because there is no powerful relief association to aid them. They cannot beg or steal, sleep in the city hall or eat soup at a free kitchen, and when they drop down in their tracks from hunger and cold the agent for the rendering company comes and hauls them away at the expense of the taxpayers. Last month the number so disposed of ran well into the thousands. It was more than 25 per cent larger than at the corresponding period during the World's fair.

Hard times came and the hundreds of expressmen, cabmen, peddlers and junk dealers were among the first to suffer. Their wages were curtailed, and they found it difficult to find enough food for their wives and children, to say nothing of paying rent and feeding their horses. If they sold out their "stands" on the corners at which they had been stationed for years every visible means of support would vanish, and then families would be compelled to depend on charity. Consequently they made their horses share the hunger of their children and are earning what they can.

Last week a cabman was hailed by a gentleman from the corner of Wabash avenue and Van Buren street. He wanted to be driven in a hurry to an address on North Clark street. The cabman cracked his whip, and the cab went rattling along the pavement. Just as they reached the incline leading to the Dearborn avenue bridge the vehicle suddenly stopped, and a moment later the horse fell. It could not be induced to rise and died where it had fallen. The cabman explained, with tears in his eyes:

"I couldn't make enough money to feed him and my children both, and he had to get along on hay, and very little of that. This morning I found him shivering in the shed, and I suppose cold and hunger have killed him."

It is but one instance among the many.—Chicago Record.
